

Midwives provide climate-friendly sexual, reproductive, maternal, newborn and adolescent healthcare.

We reduce the carbon footprint of health services and make them more sustainable and accessible for everyone.

Indian Nursing Council extends best wishes to all Nurse Midwives of India on the occasion of INTERNATIONAL DAY OF MIDWIVES 2024

Theme – ‘Midwives: A Vital Climate Solution’

Midwives: A Vital Climate Solution

We need investment, resources, autonomy, recognition, and a seat at every decision-making table.

Midwives help mothers meet their breastfeeding goals.

We support the planet while improving the health of mothers and babies.

Midwives are sexual and reproductive health champions.

We provide services that reduce women's vulnerability to climate change.

Midwives can lead the climate response.

We can ensure that women and babies have access to care during climate disasters.

Health services are responsible for 5% of carbon emissions.

Midwives can help reduce that. We make health systems more sustainable, while improving health outcomes for women and babies.

Nursing and Midwifery faculty & Students are invited to join us to celebrate the above via Youtube
